VETERANS HEALTH ALLIANCE OF LONG ISLAND

RESOURCE GUIDE: (REV. 11/2016)

“You Served You Earned”

The Veterans Health Alliance of Long Island is comprised of representatives from state and county government, the VA medical center, veterans’ organizations, mental health and substance abuse providers, universities, and individual veterans, who all have a personal interest in supporting Long Island veterans.

The mission of the Veterans Health Alliance of Long Island is to build a friendly veteran community by “Promoting the health and well-being of Long Island veterans and their families through advocacy and a broad array of services.”

This guide outlines the range of services provided by the Veterans Health Alliance of Long Island, pertinent information about your local VA hospital, County Veterans Service Agency and VET Centers as well as other resources that range from alternative healing to employment, education, food and housing.

Resources have been arranged in alphabetical order and *specify the services provided. Some of the services included in this guide are free of charge. Others may be covered by private insurance, TRICARE, government benefits, or other forms of payment.

Peer support

Both individual and group peer support is offered to veterans and their family members. Weekly peer support groups are offered to veterans and community events are hosted for the families by fellow military family members. Peer support can also be provided 1:1 or via the telephone, with all information being completely confidential.

Alliance Meetings

Alliance members gather at bimonthly meetings to discuss current events related to veterans' issues and to network with other veterans groups on Long Island. Guest speakers lecture on topics such as substance abuse, traumatic brain injury, the concerns of older veterans, up and coming therapeutic techniques etc.

Training Opportunities

Staff of the Veterans Health Alliance is available to train community organizations and providers as needed on such veteran related topics as: Understanding the Psychological Impact of War-Zone Exposure and Coming Home, Addressing Moral Injury to Reduce Military Suicide, Military Culture, Mental health First Aid, Holistic/Wellness, The Importance of Identifying Military Children in Our System and Tools for Helping, Understanding the Military Impact on our Families, Using the NYSCRI Military Assessment and Military Assessment for Significant Others Training. To arrange a training please call New York State Office of Mental Health, Long Island Field Office Veteran Liaison Erin Rostron at 631-767-2508.

Conferences

Annual March Veterans Mental Health Conference held at Adelphi, packed with Keynote Speakers, educational workshops.

Aging Veterans Conference – designed to highlight the needs of aging veterans and their families.

Events

In addition to the various training opportunities offered at the alliance, VHALI continuously works to coordinate alternative activities that we believe support overall well-being (Reckless with Red, Weekend Wellness Retreats, Fishing Trips, Holiday Parties, Participation in local town marathons and events, Collaborative Relationships with the Boy Scouts, and much more).

Awareness

“BE ONE IN A MILLION” Campaign

In an attempt to spread awareness, foster a knowledgeable and compassionate community of support, and elicit forward progress and change, VHALI is setting out to spread the word concerning the challenges and needs our LI veterans face. We do this with hopes of raising funds to further support our mission of service.

Long Island Center for Recovery offers specialized addiction treatment for first responder professionals such as law enforcement, firefighters, military, Veterans, EMT's and Correctional officers.

This first responder therapeutic addiction treatment program is dedicated to the exceptional needs of our uniformed professionals, treating not only the addiction but also the underlying issues that are often associated to such high-demand professions, namely stress, anxiety, depression, and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). In treating PTSD, Long Island Center for Recovery utilizes Rapid Resolution Therapy® (RRT), a revolutionary psychotherapeutic approach developed by Dr. Connelly, to resolve emotional and behavioral difficulties. The aim of RRT is to eliminate the negative emotional or behavioral influence of traumatic events; and unlike other forms of treatment, clients do not re-live past events or experience any pain. Accepts major insurances.
